On Campbellsville pike, gold handled knife. Finder will receive reward by returning to Paul Azbill, Columbia.

Lively Day.

Last Wednesday was one of the liveliest days in the sale of horses and mules, that has been witnessed in Columbia, for many months. Lazarus and Aulcher of Horse Cave, were advertised to be here on that day and as a result the square and streets were full of the long-eared hy-bred intercrossed with some very good steppings horses. There were horses from Green, Cumberland and Russell counties as well as from nearly every section of Adair. Besides two representatives of the above firm of buyers, J. R. Sanders, of Campbellsville, and W. J. O'Daniel, of Lebanon, were on the grounds, and bidding was on the lively order and the result is that full $6000.00 was left with the people of this section and much hay and corn saved. Read our Land, Stock and Crop column and see what happened.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Upon the death of Brother W. W. Bingham, of Gravellyville Lodge, No. 251, Gravellyville, Ky., W. W. Bingham, It has pleased the Supreme Grand Master of the Universe to call from our midst to the Grand Lodge on high, our lamented and esteemed friend, Bro. W. W. Bingham; and

Whereas, in his grand character of Masonic manhood he displayed, by his affectionate regard and love, his delight in our pleasure and prosperity, his untiring energy for promotion of all good and charity, and,

Whereas, by his sterling qualities he won our appreciation, kindest affection and regard, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. W. W. Bingham, his Lodge has lost a noble, faithful and worthy member and brother and his wife a devoted, kind and loving husband.

Resolved, That this Lodge extend to the bereaved widow and children, its most profound sympathy in this hour of irreparable loss, and may God ever watch over and protect them.

Resolved, That a memorial page be set apart upon the records of this Lodge and that these resolutions be spread thereon, a copy to be sent to his family, and that they be published in the Adair County News and the Columbia Spectator.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION!

President Roosevelt has Issued His Proclamation, Naming Thursday, November 30th, the Day for Thanksgiving.

THE PEOPLE URGED TO CONSECRATE THEMSELVES TO CORRECT LIVING

When nearly three centuries ago the first settlers came to the country which has now become this great republic, they fronted, not only hardships and privations, but terrible risk to their lives. In those grim days the custom grew to set apart a day in each year for special thanksgiving to Almighty for preserving the people through the changing seasons.

The custom has now become national and hallowed by immemorial usage. We live in easier and more plentiful times than our forefathers—men who with rugged strength, faced the rugged days; and yet the dangers to the national life are quite as great now as at any previous time in our history. It is eminently fitting that once a year our people should set apart a day for praise and thanksgiving to the Giver of all good, and at the same time that they express their thankfulness for the abundant mercies received and should manfully acknowledge their shortcomings and pledge themselves solemnly, and in good faith to strive to overcome them.

During the past year we have been blessed with bountiful crops. Our business prosperity has never stood on as high a level of material well being as ours now stands.

We are not threatened by foes from without. The foes from whom we should pray to be delivered are own passions, appetites and follies and against these there is always need that we should war.

Therefore, I now set apart Thursday, November 30th, as a day of thanksgiving for the past and of prayer for the future, and on that day I ask through out the land, that the people gather in their homes and places of worship, and in rendering thanks unto the Most High for the manifold blessings of the past year, consecrate themselves to a life of cleanliness, honor and wisdom, so that this nation may do its allotted work on the earth in a manner worthy those who founded it and those who preserve it.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

CORRESPONDENCE.

ADAIR AND ADJOINING COUNTIES

KNIFLEY.

The farmers are taking advantage of the fine weather and cribbing their corn, several having already finished.

Mr. John H. Tucker bought a farm of Stephen Goode, above Casey Creek post office and will move to it shortly. Consideration $2,200.

Byram Perkins has returned from Ill., where he went last spring to work.

Mrs. Eller Stayton, wife of Percy Stayton, died Sunday night very suddenly, leaving an infant only an hour or two old. Mrs. Stayton was a daughter of Mr. M. Tucker, and leaves several brothers and sisters to mourn her loss.

Mr. Willis Aker has rented a farm near New Albany, Ind., and will remove to it about Christmas. Mr. Aker is one of our best citizens and we can commend him to whoever he may come in contact with.

Mr. P. T. Cooley, who has been sick for the past three months, is recovering.

Mr. John M. Hendrickson will erect a new dwelling on his farm in the near future.

The Single-tree Co., located at this place, is receiving quite a lot of timber during this dry weather, for which they are paying Columbia prices.

Whooping cough is raging in this section and is using some of the parties pretty rough.

CANE VALLEY.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Dodgeon, of St. Mary's, are visiting here. Born to the wife of Coy Dodgeon, Nov. 9, a ten pound daughter.

Mrs. Nancy Sublett, of near Green River bridge, is visiting here this week.

Rev. J. P. Scruggs filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Sunday.

Owen Hardesty, of Cville, was here buying cattle several days last week.

MONTPELIER.

There will be a Union Thanksgiving service at Liberty near this place the 20th inst.

Lawyer Williams preached at Pleasant Hill last Sunday, subject, The One Talent.

We are enjoying very much the luxury of plenty of fine fat quail. Lawrence and Dr. Lehman are having fine sport killing them.

There was a large attendance at the sale of the property of the J. J. Epperson, dec'd on the 15th. Everything sold at satisfactory prices: Corn sold for $2 per bushel, Hogs, $4.30 per hundred; Sheep, $4 per hundred; Cattle sold well, Wheat, 80¢ per bushel. The sale amounted to over seven hundred dollars, all cash, except perhaps one note. This indicates the prosperity of our county. Every sale seems to have money to pay for what they need.

Charlie Murrah is slowly convalescing.

Ruel Stone who is building a residence near this place, will soon move into it. It will be a commodious building when completed.

There has been a large corn crop grown in this section, and but little stock to feed it to. We predict that corn will not be more than 40¢ cents per bushel.

Bro. A. L. Oder will assist Bro. F. J. Barger in a meeting at Givlenville, beginning Wednesday, 22nd, inst.

Beecher Hadley is not expected to live but a short time. He has been in poor health for more than a year. He is a poor man, and his long illness has brought his family to destitute circumstances, but the good neighbors are responding to their needs.

Mrs. Martha Collins is in a critical condition from paralysis.

Mrs. Charlotte Epperson is in a low state of health, and her death is expected at any time. She is one of the oldest and most respected ladies in our community.

FAIR PLAY.

The election is over and the people have gone to work.

Gathering corn, bucking and hauling staves is the order of the day.

Mrs. Amanda Lay, who has been in a critical condition for some time, is not any better.

Our merchants are having a very good trade at present.

Mr. J. W. White, wife and little grand daughter, Francis, are visiting here this week.

Mrs. James White and son, of Green county, were visiting relatives at this place last week.

Mr. John Young and quite a number of young folks visited the family of Mr. Finis Harvey last Sunday and had some fine music, as Mr. Young had his graphophone with him.

As our teacher, Mr. E. A. Strange has been on the sick list for a few days, we haven't had any school.

Mr. Basil Chapman sold his stock of dry goods to Mr. Thompson one day last week.

The members of Pierces' Chapel Church met last Monday and made a new roof on it which was half done.

Mr. Jeff Bumgarner, who was accidentally shot at a colored speaking here, is able to walk around and will soon be well.

Goliath Johnson, who, too, was shot, is improving slowly.

Ed Cundiff is only out for a short vacation and will soon be back to stand trial.

Political Rescue.

BY FARAWAY MOSES.

We were all seated in the cobbler's shop one rainy morning, some playing checkers and the rest of us arguing politics and the possibilities of scientific discoveries, when Mrs. Colonel Oyster came flouncing in out of the rain-soaked atmosphere and began to shake herself like a big shaggy dog.

"Dot was som bat wetter fur awomans to be ou, Meeses Oyster. Der atmospherical phenomena was full of aquaforts und humidity, accordingly, and was bad wetter for rheumatiz und asthmatical physicks."

"A poor widow that has nothing but her pension to depend on for her living must be up and doing in all sorts of weather, Mr. Dunkleheimer. I'm selling books gentle, she continued, as she gave the room a sweeping glance and took us all in before she accepted the chair shoved before her by Joe Jiggerbob.

"So!" ejaculated the cobbler, as he held the hammer aloft and watched the widow open her bag and produce several prospectus books and lay them on her abundance of lap. "Get som billious-trated Bibles and cookey books mit hog cholera cures in solution?"

She gave the cobbler a withering look and closed him up as tight as a tin can full of tomatoes, and then began to read from the prospectus for the benefit of the crowd: "History of the Russia-Japan war. Tells all about those magnificant naval battles and bloody contests on land. Portraits of all the important officers on bath sides, including full page portraits of the Czar and the Mikado—"

"I don't wants no Czar in my shop!" broke in the cobbler. "Any men dot iss opposition to human liberties was a tyrants. I should prefer to crack him on der heat vociferously mit my shoe hammer! Down mit kings! To hail Coloompia mit their divine rights to rule! Dot ideas belongs to der dark ages, when common people had no more education ass monkeys, und der rich hat eo more morals ass a mormon elder mit sixteen wives and a new refelation in his trunk accordingly."

"Well if you wish to purchase a war book, may be a love story will suit some of you gentlemen," she suggested, as she opened a new prospectus on her massive lap and read: "Sugar of Love; a Tale of Love and War and Intrigue. A romance of the great rebellion."

"So!" ejaculated the cobbler. "Und dhem bin keeping dot love in shoogar, or only soft A? Eh? Meppy she was brown mulatto shoogar—eh?"

"Oh shut your trap, Duchman. This is the best book published in the world since Dickens wrote David Copperfield. I sold 10 copies yesterday over in Goose Creek district. Even old Jasper Bettin brought a copy of this great love story and will spend the Winter reading the love adventures of the beautiful Creole daughter of a Louisiana sugar planter. Just think of a man 79 years old reading a love story—"

"While his wife was tookin in washing und house cleaning!" interrupted the cobbler. I knows dot men. He was a fool, mit a prefix called 'damn' in front of his name. However, he was a widower, und der winnins look like angels to him, consequently. A old married men like us fellers has our accumulations of shoogard love, und we was sanctified. We kin sing mit

Jonah, dot time he went fishing:
"Trap der anchor, furl der sail,
I was safe within der whale!"

"Oh, such old brutes as you never have my sentiment my sentiment about their make-up," snapped the widow. "You dumb Dutch marry a wife the same as you buy a horse or a cow or a dog—simply for profit. You couldn't distinguish the difference between love sentiment and an epileptic fit. If you buy this book and read it carefully you might yet learn something."

"Madam, I don't want your boogk. I proposition to write one myself. Und she will be some little plaything, like most of dhem boogks der peoples was reading to kill time."

"Oh, I preemt it will be a great work on philosophy, or astronomy, or geology, or ethnology, or psychology, or—"

"No, madam; she will be a work on fools, for fools, und by somm old fools who keeps a cobbler shop where all der fools for miles around congregates mit voices promptitude to discuss them subjects dot was forbidden by dhem shrewd politicians and shkinfinks dot was hafing a soft shnaps mit conditions ass iss. She will be a reform book, mit common sense spread all over her like New Orleans molasses spread over somm buckwheat cakks for breakfast."

"Got any of it written down yet?" inquired Professor Dadd. "You was u happy tooting I has. I has already bin working mit specific energy dot boogk of mazilaray maxims—literary sasages cut up into mout fulls, so's a men kin' chew them at his daily occupation mit vituperative easiness, accordingly."

"I don't wants no Czar in my shop!" broke in the cobbler. "Any men dot iss opposition to human liberties was a tyrants. I should prefer to crack him on der heat vociferously mit my shoe hammer! Down mit kings! To hail Coloompia mit their divine rights to rule! Dot ideas belongs to der dark ages, when common people had no more education ass monkeys, und der rich hat eo more morals ass a mormon elder mit sixteen wives and a new refelation in his trunk accordingly."

"Love is not lofiness. She begins mit hand squeezing und goo-goo eyes and osculating und ice cream, but she runs out of smood water und easy sailing purty soon and hits der rough sea of Wood-shplitting und baby squalls and paragoric bottles und der wisible bottom of der flour barrel, accordingly."

"Love shitories are lies, written by wretches who wroot rot, und idle peoples play mit dis lonely rot der same ass childers play mit broomsticks und make believing she was a horse. Soon peoples read love shitories because dhem didn't had sufficient love in der oyster soup of life, und was filling opon moch turtle soup, accordingly."

"Soom old maids read love shitories because it makes them feel good to see older peoples git shqueezed. It comes next to gitting shqueezed dhemselves, und gifts them lots of chances to hide their blushes."

"You're a fool!" snapped Mrs. Oyster, as she began to nervously leaf over her prospectus.

"You bet! I has a chapter of fools. Let me quotation: A fool iss der fooler stitcks his ignoramus into bolitices und then looks fur der hole after der corporation attorney was elected to office. He iss der man dot was sure his party was always right, und was believing sh'till dot Supreme judges has got a big sh'tick to make dhem trustful corporations sh'tand around mit conglomerated complacency. He reads love stories to kill time, when he hasn't even got a fat hog to kill when butchering time comes around mit pork sasages. He was der man dot sh'tands on der shreet corner und brags to der boys about dot flag dot brings freedom to der poor mens dot has no land on which to pay taxation, und at der same opportunity he has got no shirts at home to make soom exchanges when wash day was trumps in der game of life."

"How about those maxims you were speaking of? Have you written a chapter on maxims?" inquired Professor Dadd.

"You was a happy tooting I has! I has been 10 yare picking up smart sayings und leedle tibits of wisdom, like this, fur instink:

"'Gooferman war fur der beoples who did der goofeering, by der beoples who was trinkin gooferman pap, und der beoples dot was sucking on to soom gooferman job with vociferous loyalty, like cement patches to somm cow skin shoes.

"Also: 'Handsaws do not grow on axletrees. Beer kegs do not grow into hogsheads, but der contents dooze. Der winnins will did anydings she tinks was right, even if she doozen't believe it was so, and hadn't otter didit. (Took der Mormon winnins, fur instink, who marry a deacon mit a dootzen wifes, when dhem knows he doozen't haaf enough love for one.)'

"Also, mit likewise similitude: 'Ag reat man's patriotism was like boil or a cowbuckle—its force was concentrating arout dot place where der corruption accumulations was seeking soom holes to lea ouid according to the laws of gravitation.'

"Und som more again another time: 'Dot was a mistook idee aboud der wheels of our gooferman needing so mooch greasing. Der wheels was all in der heads of our shutesmen, und it was somm impossibilities to git at dhem mit der oil can. However, dhere was somm leetle touch eoles in their pockets dot kin be greased with extraordinary amplitude, und der wheels can suck soom oop by absorption, accordingly.'

"Likewise: 'Dot men who iss willings to die fur his country, iss not willings to his taxation. sommities he was a bluffer, like dot men who says he can willingly die to save his wife's character, rather than go to court und haf der jury declare she didn't get any—'

"Hold on, Meeses Oyster. Don'd gone off mit such subterfuge ratification. I shall need soom agents to sell my boogk when she is published. She will be sold by prescription, und I will need a whole lot of old winnins to go arout und bore der people mit solicitations. To be course, nobodies will wants to buy my book, cause she will be full of goot, common sense und political wisdom, und dot will be too strong fut der mental aberation, accordingly."

"What der peoples wants iss love stories, soft and easy sitch ass 'Shoogar of Love,' and 'Ashes of Love,' and 'Country Smoked Love,' and 'Pickled Love,' and 'Canned Love,' and 'Sour Crout und Love.' Goot Gott, der peoples was only playing soom literary farce comedy! Playing little girls in their mudder's dresses—riding broom sticks und calling dhem shackasses—say Meeses Oyster, coom back und bore us som more."

Saved By Dynamite.

Sometimes a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, giv her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific for bronchitis and laryngeal. At T. E. Paul's drug store, price 80c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

The Adair County News.

Published Every Wednesday
BY THE

Adair County News Co.
(INCORPORATED.)

GEORGE S. HARRIS, . . . . . Editor

Democratic newspaper devoted to the interests of the city of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

Entered at the Columbia Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

WED. NOV. 29, 1905.

The Louisville Post is still singing the same old song of fraud and intimidation. In the broad realm of the universe, in the unlimited space above and in all the acts of mankind, the Post seems to see no good, but the procession moves on and Louisville continues to grow.

Same, sound and sensible, the Louisville Herald quits the contest in that city, on the ground that it is now a matter of the courts and the decision of the courts will be final and must be accepted. It makes its exit as follows: "The whole matter is now up to the courts. Their decision will be final and must be respected. The Herald's space is too valuable and its health too precious to be wasted now in war whoops as to what happened in any or in all of the precincts.

Hon. David H. Smith, present congressman from the fourth, has reconsidered his statement made a year ago and will again be candidate to succeed himself. Congressman Smith had stood in with his constituency to a remarkable degree up to that time, but it so happened that he failed to measure up to the desires of many Democrats in the last State Convention. It appeared to us, at that time, that his position then foreshadowed defeat for another term, but time heals many wounds, as well as removes the dark shadows that shut out a clear vision of the future. We presume it is even so in this case or else Mr. Smith is laboring under a mistake.

The entering of Mr. W. B. Holdeman in the Senatorial race came as a surprise to many country Democrats and will probably complicate matters. At any rate Mr. Holdeman is a Democrat well fitted for this responsible position, and should he win, Kentucky's prestige will not be reduced. The fight between Senator Blackburn and Judge Poynter, has grown intensely warm and in fact is not doing the party nor the State any good, and just at this juncture a strong able man as Mr. Holdeman may walk off with the plum. In this community Democrats are not to be reckoned as their representation is shut out by a large Republican majority, yet they have their choice and love their party. Mr. Holdeman is a newspaper man, editor of the Times, which has fought many good battles for Democracy and is stronger for the fights of the future. Their decision will be final and must be respected. The Herald's space is too valuable and its health too precious to be wasted now in war whoops as to what happened in any or in all of the precincts.

Cleared for Action.
When the body is cleared for action by Dr. King's New Life Pills, you can tell it by the bloom of health on the cheeks; the brightness of the eyes; the firmness of the flesh and muscles; the buoyancy of the mind. Try them. At T. E. Paul's drug store, 25 cents.

Land, Stock and Crops,

N. M. Tutt sold A. D. Coy a combined horse for $100.

Jo Coffey Jr., bought from Lee Carnes, a gaited horse for $130.

J. E. Burton & Bro., bought 1 mule from a Mr. Janes for $75.

Robert Hudson took charge of the mules bought by Lazarus & Altshefer, and delivered them in Horse Cave.

M. E. R. Young, of Cumberland county, sold 92 head of cattle last week, on the Danville market at prices that caused him to feel good.

W. E. Williams bought a mule from C. M. Herriford for $115. Mr. Herriford brought 5 to the market, but we did not learn the price or the purchaser of the other four.

J. H. Young sold to J. W. Garrison 64 acres of land on Russell creek, a part of the Scott Montgomery farm, for $1500. This tract of land is about two miles from Columbia.

James Dunbar sold Van Dunbar, 18 head of cotton mules, 14 hands high for $1754.00. This purchase completes a car load for Mr. Dunbar and he left for Georgia Monday morning.

H. C. Bottoms bought 5 head of small steers, from J. N. Murrell at 2 cents per pound, 5 from J. N. Cook for $28.00 and a lot of young cattle in Casey county, at $2.80 per hundred, to be weighed the 10, of January.

J. A. Chapman is now sole owner of the farm near Glendale, known as the Powell farm. He bought C. O. Walkup's interest last week at a valuation of $6000. for the farm and stock.

Coffey Bros. & Young bought four miles on Cumberland river, ranging in price from $150 to $160. They also bought a span from Smith & Nell $250, and a pair from Bennett & Hudson for $300.

Kelsay Bros. bought C. O. Walkup's half interest in the firm of Chapman & Walkup's general line of goods at Glendale. The firm is now Chapman & Co., and a larger stock of goods will be kept for the people of that section.

The following sales of live stock were reported from the public sale of G. A. Atkins, Administrator of the estate of W. J. Atkins, last Saturday. A cow to Allen Walker, for $20.50, a cow to Bunch Burrell, for $26.25, a cow to Braxton Massie, for $17.50, four two year old steers to Chapman Browning for $108, a bay mare to Judge Dohoney, for $75, five hogs to same party for $38, and two sows sold at fair prices to parties whose names we did not get. Corn sold for $1.90 per barrel.

Lazarus & Altshefer, of Horse Cave, bought in Columbia last Wednesday, 17 mules at prices ranging from $70 to $130 per head and 6 horses from $80 to $130. Impossible to get all the parties who sold, but A. Hunn let them have 1 mule at $77.50, a horse for $110, and a mare for $90. W. E. Williams, 1 mule for $110, S.

R. Walker, 1 mule for $95, 1 mule from Josiah Hunter for $88, Frank Waggener, 2 for $240, and R. P. Breeding let them have a span for $240. Lee Smith sold them a harness horse for $120.

J. R. Sanders & W. J. O'Daniel bought 18 head of mules in Columbia, last Wednesday, from the following parties:

R. Rice, one at $125; W. H. Blair, a span for $225; W. H. Taylor, 1 for $140; J. H. Turk, 1 for $180; Z. W. Barden, 2 for $285; L. B. Irvin, 2 for $350; T. J. Furgerson, 2 for $315; J. G. Dudgeon, 2 for $240; Mrs. Sally Smith, 1 for $115; J. W. Simpson, a span for $350; W. R. Grissom, 2 for $325, and one from Lane Hartfield, 3 year old, for $150.

R. E. Tandy & Son bought from the following parties:

Eight head from different parties in Cumberland county for $148.50 cents, one cow from James Holliday at 2 cents per pound, a cow from a Mr. Bryant, weight 735 pounds at 12 cents, 1 cow from W. W. Jones, weight 910 pounds, at 1½ cents, one cow from Chapman & Walkup, 875 pounds, at 1½ cents, James Walker 2 calves for $5. Allen Walker 1 calf for $30. G. A. Bradshaw 2 steers, extra good, 1472 pounds, for 3 cents, T. Powell 3 head for $140. T. J. Epperson 3 head for $145, from R. K. Young, 56 pounds at 3½ to 4 cents, from G. A. Bradshaw, 18 sheep at $3. per head, from Allen Walker, 3 sheep for $10. They also sold 13 head of cattle to Uriah Selby, of Russell county, for $234.

Coffey Bros., bought of R. T. Paul, the great combined gray gelding, Doctor Coffey, No. 2277, A. S. R., for Mr. J. J. McDonald of Cuthbert, Ga. This horse is a full brother to the great Silver King, winner at the St. Louis Fair, 1904, and is one of the best in his class that has ever left the State. The price paid was $350. o o o

LOCAL NEWS.

On Sunday, the 16th, Mrs. Amelia Haskins died at the home of her son, Mr. J. O. Haskins, Bowling Green. Some several days, near two weeks, prior to her death, she was severely burned by her clothes catching from a grate, and death was due to the burns and old age. She had reached the ripe old age of 82 and was visiting her son at the time of her death. She was a member of the Baptist Church and a good Christian lady whose mission in this world was nobly and well filled, and her life was lengthened far beyond the average. Four children survive, Mr. Cress Haskins, of Campbellsville, Mr. J. O. Haskins, of Bowling Green, Mr. Robt. Haskins, of Lebanon, and Mrs. Stackhouse, of Lexington. The body was conveyed to Camp Knox and interred in the old family burying ground beside loved ones gone before. The loss of a mother can never be replaced.

A few days after the election Mr. F. P. Dononey was in to see and remarked that Milltown was silent and to notify the Democrats that in the next fight let it be known just what would be needed and the majority could be secured. Truly the Democrats are to be commended for their faithful, persistent effort at Milltown. They know how and they do it.

NOTICE.

All parties having claims and demands against the estate of J. P. Miller, should present same for payment, properly proven as the law directs, on or before Jan. 1, 1906.

N. B. MILLER, Executor,

3-1m Springfield, Mo.

The public sale of M. J. Murrell drew a large crowd, last Saturday, but on the average prices for nearly everything sold, was low. Col. L. B. Hurt was the auctioneer and performed his duty to perfection, but draggy bidding could not be prevented nor better prices secured. The sale consisted mostly of farm implements, etc., and but little stock was sold. Five head of cattle and one two-year-old colt covering the list. Several stacks of hay went at $10.00 per stack. One lot of corn was sold at $1.50 per barrel, and no more was sold owing to the tendency to ward lower prices.

The announcement heretofore made that the Columbia Band would give an entertainment of Thanksgiving is hereby withdrawn. It was my intention to entertain but owing to the fact that the suitable hall could not be secured on that date, it has been postponed until some time in December. At any rate the postponement will doubtless bring good results for it gives the band ample time to arrange a good program.

INSURANCE.

My time will be devoted to soliciting Life Insurance. I represent the Connecticut Mutual, one of the oldest and most reliable companies doing business. It is an annual dividend company and I already have many policy holders in Adair and adjoining counties. Its standing and dealings with its policy holders is fair and open and has never been held under suspicion. There is no better company, and a protection, in the event of death, is something that no man should overlook. I will have a desk in the office of the Adair County News.

J. E. MURRILL.

Mr. J. J. Biggs is having a new barn built on his suburban property, and from general appearance it will be a good one. Too many neglect providing a good place for their stock in winter time and as a result lose more feed and get less good, besides the stock suffers and the loss is great when left out winter weather. Good barns can be bought for a small amount and a large building erected for a very moderate sum and would be worth much to every farmer who keeps stock. Build a good barn if you have not already one, that will shelter all your stock and house your feed.

Our Land, Stock and Crop Column shows the transactions in this section, so far as we are able to get them. If you make a sale or purchase, report it and help make a showing of the business done in this county. It is indirect to your interest to do so.

H. C. Bottoms returned from Danville last week, after disposing of a good bunch of cattle on that market.

According to his statement, the only thing that prevented a loss was the few turnpikes in Casey county.

The Dime social, given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church, at the residence of Dr. W. R. Grissom, last Friday evening, was well patronized. The entertainment was highly satisfactory to the participants and the receipts were pleasing to the Society.

Mr. W. F. Jeffries, our hardware man, took to his farm last Thursday for the purpose of baling his hay, but strange to say, he exhausted his inclination for that kind of work in one day, although he claims that the rain, only a slight shower, drove him back to the house.

Four car loads of Adair county mules left Monday for the Southern market, and others will leave later on.

This is a good showing in the wind-up of the year. It would be safe to say that Adair county has furnished 12 car loads of the long eared animals in 1905 and at an average price of $125.00 would leave $45,000.00 with the farmers of Adair.

BAILL—HURT.

Last Sunday at 2 p. m., at the residence of the bride's mother, Miss Zora Hurt and Mr. Jake Bault were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, in the presence of the family and a few invited friends. The young lady is a daughter of Elizabeth Hurt, and is industrious and highly recommended. She enjoys the good will of a large number of friends. The groom is a prosperous farmer of the Caney Valley section and a gentle man highly esteemed. The news reaches their many friends in wishing them a long and happy life.

There is not a town in the State whose police force gives as little trouble as Columbus. Every thing goes smoothly under the direction of Captain of the guard, Wm. Myers.

Mr. J. J. Biggs is having a new barn erected. It is situated on the large scale, for a city farmer, but when completed, it will be seen that it is not too large. Why it is that so many people will winter stock in little old rickety barns, with no convenience to themselves or comfort or protection to stock, is hard to understand. Barn lumber is cheap and most any one could build and not be pained.

Mr. R. M. Cheek, of Burkesville, has sold his possessions in that place and will remove to Nashville, Tenn., having purchased a large farm near the city.

Mr. Cheek is one of the best citizens of Cumberland and has a most excellent wife and charming daughter.

They will be greatly missed from Burkesville and Cumberland county and the best wishes of the citizenship go with them.

Last Thursday night thieves entered the cellar of Mrs. Mary Eubank and took about 40 or 50 cans of fruit, jelly and preserves. This is the third time reported in this town for, at least a year, and it is safe to say that it will be well to lock the door and key is used on all goods inviting to thieves. What a good thing it would be if some one had well-trained bloodhounds to trail them up.

Mr. J. S. Stapp is one of the busy men in this section and while he has been, and is today, a successful business man, yet he has carried his business by strict business methods and constant intelligent action.

In conversation with him last week, he informed us that he had over 300,000 staves on his yard in Columbia, and nearly that many in the woods which are being delivered as rapidly as possible to the place of shipping here. Mr. Stapp has made good money in the stave and lumber business and has been of much worth to the people of his section. We like to see such come to every enterprising man whether in public or private life.

In conversation with one of the newly elected members of the town council, a few days ago, he presented an outline of his plan for bettering public conditions in this rapidly growing little city, and to be plain, his position is progressive—leading out on lines that will bring permanent improvement.

He said: "I recognize the fact that the sidewalk question is a proposition with which our board can do little, I shall favor a departure from old methods as rapidly as possible to the place of shipping here. Mr. Stapp has made good money in the stave and lumber business and has been of much worth to the people of his section. We like to see such come to every enterprising man whether in public or private life.

Four car loads of Adair county mules left Monday for the Southern market, and others will leave later on.

This is a good showing in the wind-up of the year. It would be safe to say that Adair county has furnished 12 car loads of the long eared animals in 1905 and at an average price of $125.00 would leave $45,000.00 with the farmers of Adair.

There is no proposition of greater interest to the public in this section than the making and maintaining of better roads. There is no public necessity so badly needed, and yet in spite of the existing conditions of our roads and the ability of Adair county to change them, we plod along over rough places in the summer season and take the mud through winter. There is nothing lacking except will power and a determination to make good roads. Economy is too often expensive and such is the case in this county on this proposition. In all the world there never was a people who failed to endorse good roads. We trust the fiscal court will not overlook the importance of this proposition at its next meeting. Gentlemen, you are the directors of this county. You can prove bonefathers or dead weights. You can start a will that will perpetuate your name as progressive officials and result in giving this county as good roads as can be built. It takes money and nerve. The people of the county have the money and you must furnish the other ingredient. Make a liberal levy for roads, buy a crusher and start business as early as possible. The people will join you in this move as certain as rain falls. A few will complain: some will criticize but many will endorse you, but regardless of the little waste of money, the rigid economy, the scientific few, start the work and help make the country what it ought to be.

You can start the work that will lead to the greatest good to the country people or you can keep the old order of things. The time is here for action and this is your opportunity.

HORSE SENSE.

In conversation with J. R. Sanders, of Campbellsville, last Wednesday, the subject of trusty horses came up and in speaking of the good traits of the equine, Mr. Sanders spoke of the confidence he has in his buggy horse and as proof of his trusty traits stated: "The Municipal campaign in Campbellsville was a warm one, and as my brother was a candidate for Mayor, naturally I took considerable interest and was out to see some of the voters after dark as well as in the broad daylight. One night I drove across town a distance of 1/2 mile from home, left my horse and went in to see a voter. After staying 30 to 40 minutes I came out but found the horse had bugged home. I went home and within a short distance met him coming back. He had staid stabled, went home but found the gate closed and then returned for me. I have owned him for quite awhile and never think of tying him when I want to stop at any place, so it was my confidence in him that gave him the liberty to go home while I was engaged too long for his patience and it was his good sense of discretion to return for me after finding the gate closed. There is not many such animals."

THRIFTY FARMERS.

J. C. Henson & Co., of Dulwich, this county, are feeding 20 head of yearling mules, a span of two year olds and 4 weanlings. The bunch is reported as doing fine, growing fast and keeping good flesh. This firm also has 26 head of extra good steers that will take grass in 1906.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Some one keeps circulating the statement that those who insure in the Farmers Home have to pay every time the company has a fire loss. This statement is wholly by, is a falsehood. The Company never has, nor never can make but two calls a year, January and July.

A. N. Wells, Gen. Mgr.

Mr. J. T. Gowdy bought from the Hubbard's estate the entire square on which his livery stable is located, for $5000.00. There is a splendid brick dwelling on the lot as well as the livery and the entire property is well located. Mr. Gowdy will continue to furnish rigs with good teams from the same old stand so well known and conveniently located for the people in Campbellsville.

CELEBRATED.

Mr. A. D. Coy was 40 years old last Wednesday, the 22nd, and that birthday was celebrated in a most acceptable manner by him feasting and making merry with friends. His good wife thought it fitting to give him a birthday dinner and to have a few friends present to enjoy the occasion. Guests present were: Mrs. Mens, of Lebanon, Misses Vivian and Rema Coy, of Louisville, Mr. Burkhardt, of Louisville, Mr. W. T. McFarland and family, Misses Julia and Annie Eubank, of Columbia and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Frazer, of Eunice. The occasion was highly enjoyable to all present who participated in the many good edibles that loaded the table and in social conversation befitting the occasion.

A Poem.

Why do Republicans envy the South,
And by high tariff from it steal?
Why do they seek toнич the North,
With the products of the Southern field?

Why do they seek to defame the South,
Whereto the nation's honor lies;
Why do they publish this and that,
When they know good and well they lies?

What could they do that they have not done?

I must pause here for an answer,
For they robbed and robbed by the carpet bag;

And they are trying to steal or faster.
They are trying to bring the sunny South

Into great humiliation;
And now they look us right in the face and say,

You must recognize the negro as your equal;
Or we'll cut your representation.

But that they know they dare not do,

I speak it without hesitation,

They are only trying to scare the South.

Into negro equalization.

They said that Crum at Charleston

Must collect the custom,

But why, I will ask, didn't they take him up North

To New York City or Boston.

"Christ With Us," a poem by Edwin Markham, with appropriate decorations fill the first page of the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION for December, and the remainder of the magazine is very Christmassy indeed. Christmas fiction is represented by "An Ogre's Tenants," by Owen Oliver; "The Burglar's Christmas Gift," by Clara Morris; "The Queen of the Unwise Men," by Temple Bailey; "A Borrowed Christmas," by Mary Wilhelmina Hastings; "The Man Who Gained the World," by Alfred Tressider; Shepperd and other timely stories. Mrs. Russell Sage contributes an essay on "What's the Matter with Christ-mas?" Leo Bennett tells how John D. Rockefeller celebrates the day; and two articles elaborately illustrated with photographs tell "How Royalty celebrates Christmas," and useful articles on handmade gifts, leather tooling, Christmas cookery and Christmas tables give the number additional holiday value. Published by the Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

EDUCATIONAL.*STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

"It is not the will of your Father which is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish. I came that ye might have life and have it more abundantly"—Jesus.

"There is a glory greater than the glory of wealth and power and arms and conquest—the glory of loving, getting, cherishing, diffusing and perpetuating knowledge, whereby men may adorn their lot in this life, whatever that lot may be; and whereby as far as knowledge can, they may be led to know a better life to come."—Robt. J. Breckenridge, in 1855.

"The public free schools are Colleges of the people; they are the nurseries of freedom; their establishment and efficiency are the paramount duty of a republic. The education of the children is the most legitimate object of taxation."—Dr. J. L. M. Curry.

"The power of the state, the interests of civilization, and the perpetuity of our institutions alike call upon the Legislature to devise a system which will meet the wants of the rising generation."—State Supt. R. T. Dillard, in 1847.

In order to preserve our civilization, its history and its traditions, must we not make the schools of all the people efficient?

But the schools will be no better, unless we begin their reformation with the teacher. The teacher is the real center of all education. Among the educational problems, therefore, which must be solved before our schools become efficient, the teacher problem is perhaps the most vital. He must be trained to teach, and he must be paid for his services, not starved and ostracized.

Henry Bernard, in a speech before the Legislature of Connecticut in 1837, said:

"It is idle to expect good schools until we have good teachers; and the people will rest satisfied with such teachers as they have, until their attention is directed to the subject, and until we can demonstrate the necessity of employing better teachers and show they can be made better by proper training in classes or Seminaries established for this specific purpose."

There is but one way practicable to attain the end of popular education, and that is the education of teachers adapted to the wants of our schools. This reform is fundamental to every other in the cause of education. For want of it, all the endowments of the state, and all the endowments of benevolence in behalf of education, however extensive, will languish and fail; for it is only at last through good teachers that good teaching can be had, and without good teaching, no system of education can be effectual."—Prof. Edward S. Joynes, William and Mary College.

In an article in the Southern School Journal for November, 1905, Judge W. M. Beckner, of Winchester, said:

"In the new education, which we may fairly call American, the chief factor is the TEACHER. Text-books are very well, but they are of secondary consideration. Does anybody know or care what books, if any, were used by Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Comenius, Pestalozzi, Froebel or Parker? Their pupils were shepherds; the shepherds not only fed, but led into green pastures, where they could feed themselves. The old system of memorization is passing away with the rod, by which it was stimulated. Under the new methods, initiative and not imitation, is the keynote. The old way was easier because it was mechanical. Its results were much like the music of the organ grinder. The instrument on which the modern teacher must know how to play, is the harp of a thousand strings, found in the nature of every child committed to his care. How can he successfully do this without adequate training, and where can this be had save in a properly arranged and equipped Normal School?"

It seems that almost every educated intelligent citizen in the state agrees that Kentucky not only needs, but must have Professional Training Schools for her teachers, but the surprising part of it all is, that there are yet even a few presumably intelligent folk in the state who think we should not be hasty; that we should take plenty of time to debate the matter before jumping headlong into this "new fad." This idea of a "new fad" is amusing in the extreme. Let us examine a little into history and see how new the proposition really is. The first State Normal School was established in 1839 at Lexington, Mass.—66 years ago. Since that time every state in the Union has established such institutions except Kentucky and one other. Kentucky was the second State admitted into the Union, being admitted in 1792—113 years ago. In 1857 Dr. Robt. J. Breckenridge, Supt. of Public Instruction said:

"The people of the state will prefer good teachers to indifferent ones, and, if the state prefers that these good teachers should be strangers and foreigners, rather than her own sons, she has only to refuse all provisions for training at home, and the result is secured."

For 18 years the Kentucky Educational Association has been battling away on this proposition. They have resolved and resolved in favor of the "Professional Training of Teachers," but for want of funds with which to properly present their claims before the General Assembly, their efforts have died away with the adjournment of the meeting. The Educational Improvement Commission came into existence last June, and since became a fighting organization by securing money with which to lay the cause at the feet of the people for their consideration. There is no doubt but that the Legislature will do the will of the people if it knows it.

It, then, behoves the people to instruct the Legislature as to their wishes. The colored people long ago went before the Legislature and asked for a State Normal School. It was granted, and today they enjoy the privilege of a first-class, well equipped State Normal School at Frankfort. Graduates from this institution are granted State Life Diplomas without Examination. Every Kentuckian ought to be proud of this institution; but, if it be not considered too sudden an innovation, after these 18 years since the question was first agitated in Kentucky by State Supt. Robert J. Breckenridge, might we not venture to ask that the white people, which comprise about 86 per cent of the population of the state, be granted as good schools in proportion for the training of white teachers?

Think over this matter carefully, and, if you believe the time is ripe, tell your Representative and Senator where you stand. They want to do your will. If you think it too early, then let's wait another CENTURY (?)

Died on the 25th, at his home near Pickett, Dr. W. W. Bingham, in his 90th year. Brother Bingham was a Christian of the strict sense, having been a member of the Methodist church for over fifty years. Each day of his life he lived up to what he professed and when the summons came he was ready and waiting. He will not only be missed in the family circle but in the church and community where he lived. For many years he has been the leading physician of all that country. Dr. Bingham is no more but from the life he lived we are sure his will will go on. The funeral was preached by Rev. G. Y. Wilson before a large audience of friends and relatives and the remains interred in the Pickett Chapel cemetery by the masonic fraternity. He leaves a devoted wife and several loving children with the community at large, to sympathize with them in this their hour of distress.

Mr. Bob Mitchell, of Sulphur Well passed through here last Thursday, with two of the best yearling mules that we have noticed in this town for many years, they were purchased from Chas. Yarberry, of Sparkesville, for $280. He also bought Mr. Yarberry's coon dog for $10. Coons are plentiful in the Sulphur Well Section.

BLISS.

Public sales of property are getting numerous in this part.

Mr. Tyman Atkins sold a lot of corn in the crib, at the sale last Saturday, to Mr. J. A. Diddle, at $1.50 per barrel. Mr. Atkins will leave very soon for Pensacola, Florida, at which place he has a position in view. Success to Mrs. Lizzie Pennington was on the sick list but is now better.

Saturday was an ideal day that brought a good crowd of people to the auction sale of Mr. M. J. Murrell. Things sold readily at rather low prices. Three heifers brought $31; one cow, $20.55; one cow, $13; hay stacks, $10.50 to $11 per stack. Mr. Lucien Hurt did the crying and a veteran he Hog slaughtering will soon be the order of the day, as the result of appetizing ribs, backbone, etc., will be much in evidence.

There has been an exceedingly favorable spell of weather for cribbing the corn crops. Farmers in general have been rushing themselves early and late, some are just through and are now all happiness.

Mr. Harry Staples, of your city, was mixing with friends here last Saturday and Sunday.

The sale at the late W. J. Atkins place, failed to bring the price asked for the farm, consequently it was rented to Mr. Fred Troutman, son of Mrs. Mollie Troutman. Mr. Troutman, who has been in North Dakota for the last three years, will be home at an early date. He and his mother will move to the place as soon as possible.
